Wolcott Voters Kill Town Administrator

By Doug McClure

WOLCOTT — After forty five minutes of often sharply-winded discussion, just a few Wolcott voters remained to vote on finding a town administrator position, in part using $20,000 from the Capital Reserve Fund.

The vote was not just on the issue of the administrator but also on the issue of the town's financial health. It was largely negative, from the outset of planning, a major objective of the new position was to streamline town government and avoid waste. They were asking the public to invest. The budget for the month of work on the part of multiple residents and the select board was $20,000 from the Capital Reserve Fund. The meeting was held on Monday, August 20th, 2018. The administrator position was not found to be necessary, and the position was being eliminated. As an outcome, as on that vote.
