The 125-acre site is an example of parking not publicly used. A large shopping center takes up a significant percentage of the entire acre in the parking lot.

Town Withdraws FEMA Application

By Bill Hatcher

CAIRO—The town has retracted the FEMA application for the 125-acre site at the end of Hill Road where the old saw mill and laundry were located. After detailed discussion, the select board voted to withdraw the FEMA application for a hazard mitigation grant which generated significant public concern and input as to whether the town should receive the funding.

They said the site was not a FEMA application and whether the town should continue with the application remains. Several of the Friends of the Woodstock and other organizations are looking for funding information.
